

Walking Scotland

Our

Values

Just as walking and wheeling are easier when the weather is calm and sunny, our work is shaped by the weather we bring. At Walking Scotland, how we show up matters. Living our values shapes our culture, our work, and the impact we achieve together.

Our Values

We're catalysts

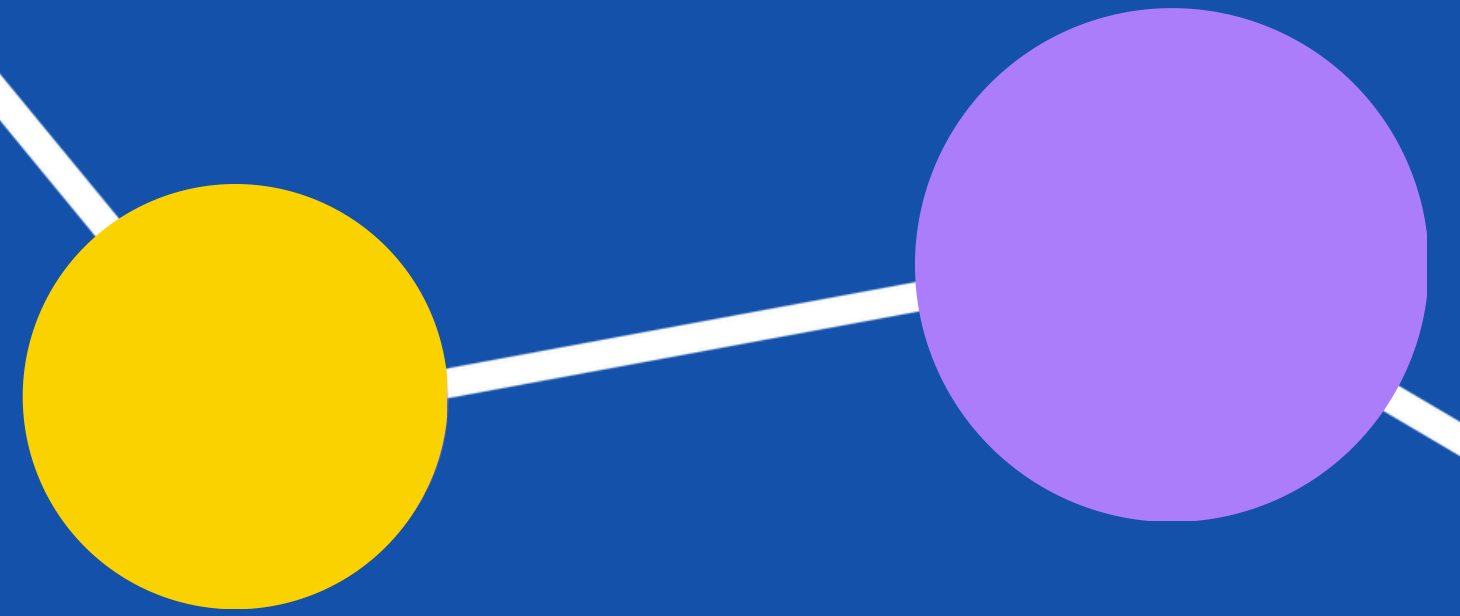

We're curious

We're vocal

We don't stand still

Our

Values

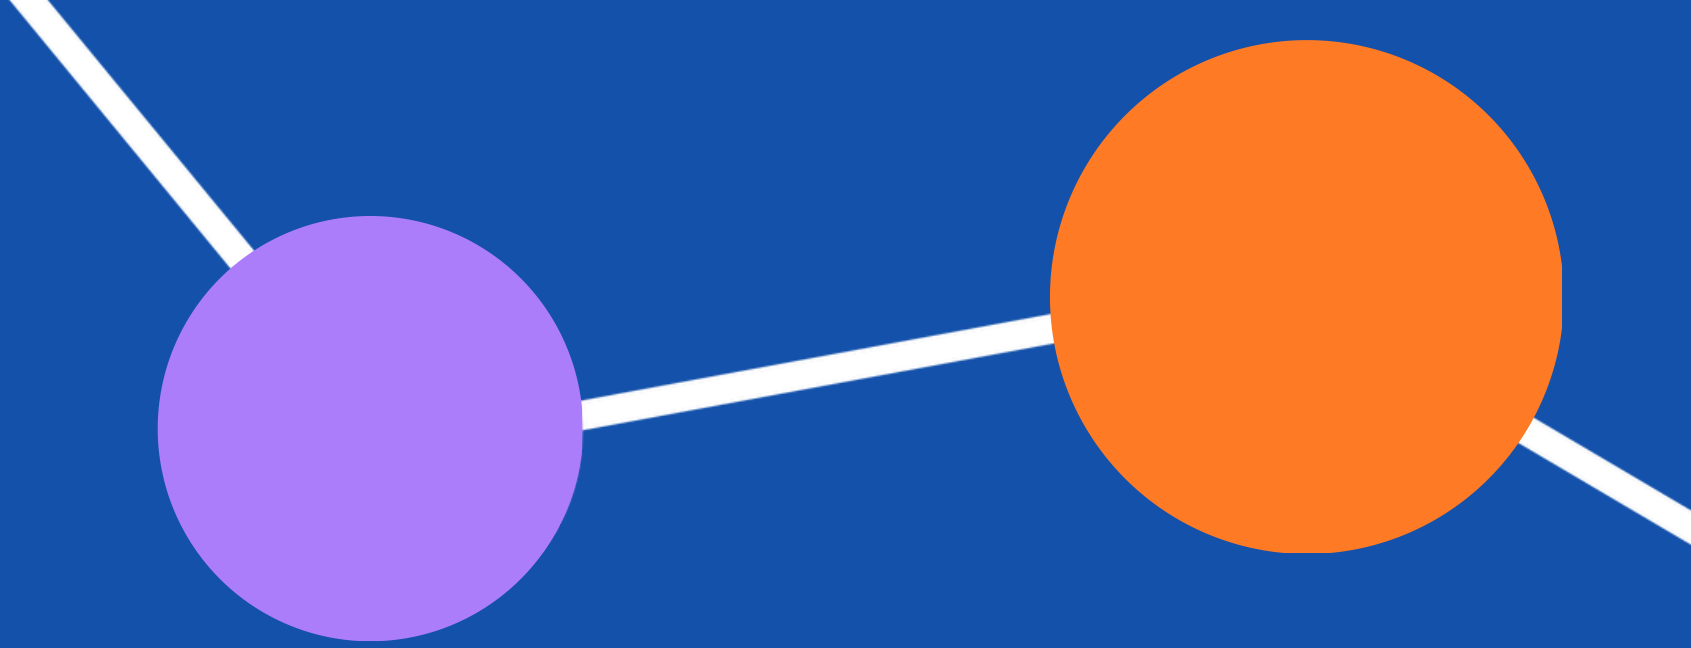

We're

catalysts

We bring people together to turn ideas into action. We create connections and collaborate because real change happens when we work together.

We're

catalysts

A decorative graphic in the top right corner consisting of a white line that starts from the top edge, goes down and to the left, then up and to the right, passing through a purple circle and ending at an orange circle.

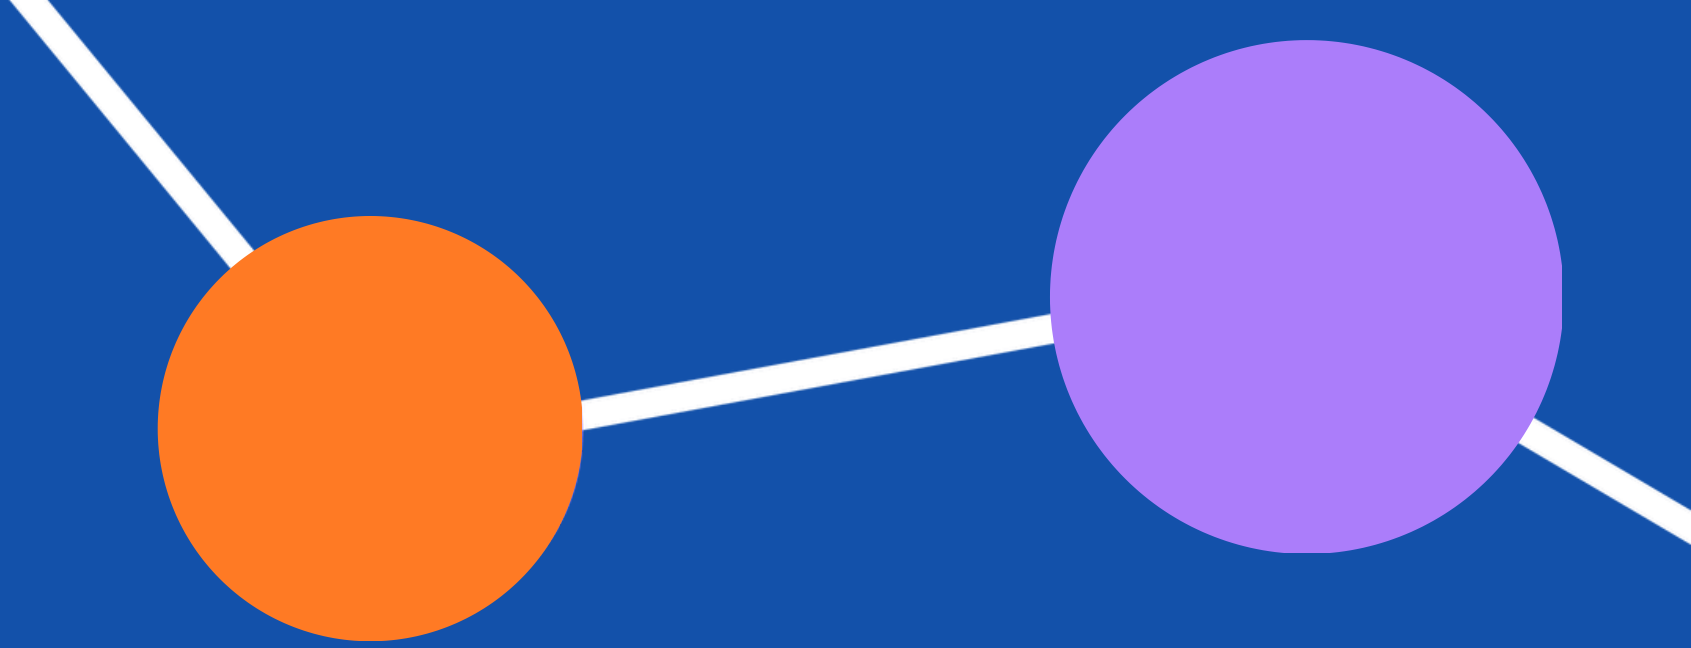

We're

curious

Our work is grounded in evidence and impact. We're always learning from real-life experiences, other experts and each other. We listen carefully, build trust, and explore new ideas and better ways of doing things.

We're

curious

A decorative graphic in the top right corner consisting of two circles, one orange and one purple, connected by a white line that extends from the top left towards the bottom right.

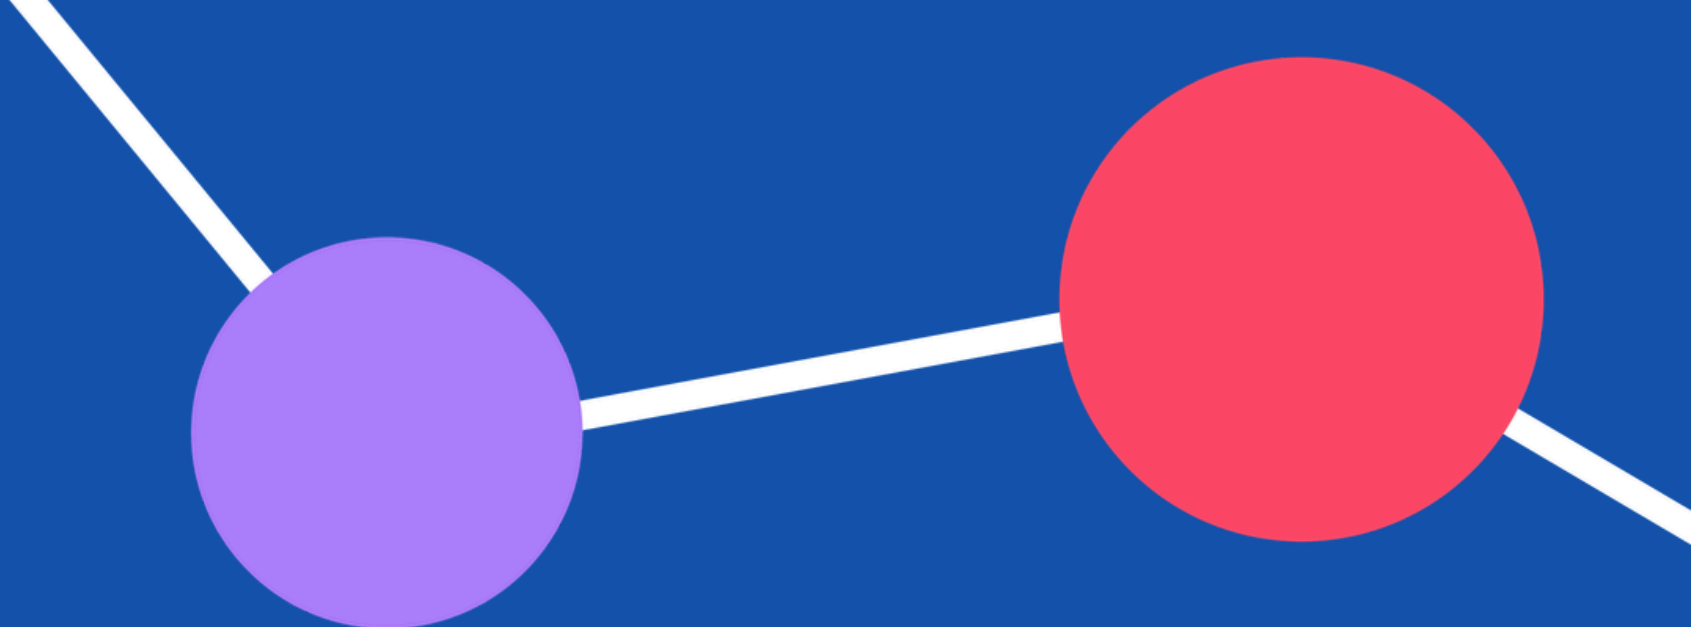

We're

vocal

We raise our voice and speak up for others so that lived experience shapes the decisions that impact people's lives.

We're

vocal

We don't stand still

We walk our talk. We are committed to this path. We won't stop until everyone has the opportunity to walk and wheel every day.